

The Energy Range

The Energy range of cleaning and maintenance products has been formulated to provide safer, more cost-effective solutions whenever possible without compromising efficacy. As the name implies, ENERGY has been built into these cleaners so that the minimum amount of physical labour, heat or mechanical agitation is required to produce good results every time.

The Energy range consists mainly of the non-speciality cleaners not found within Bio-Productions or Stapro's ranges, and by combining these products with the Stapro carpet-care products, or Bio-Productions more environmentally sympathetic ranges, customers can minimise stocks while maximising purchasing power.
